Welcome to English 100!

Classroom Etiquette. Our classroom is a collaborative learning community. We each bring to this classroom a unique and valuable set of life experiences. We can learn from one another, and in the process discover who we are… who we are still becoming. In order for us to take advantage of this exciting opportunity to discover, learn, and evolve, we must create an environment in which we respect, celebrate, and support our differences. To minimize distractions, please turn off and put away your cell phones and other electronic devices. Also, please no eating or drinking in class.
CATALOG DESCRIPTION

English 100: This college-level composition course promotes critical reading, the writing process, rhetorical principles, research strategies, and the documentation of sources.

Prerequisite: Grade of “C” or better in ENG 22 or ENG 23, placement into ENG 100 or approval of designated Language Arts representative.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES (SLO)

The student learning outcomes for English 100 are:

1. Write complex and well-reasoned compositions in language, style, and structure appropriate to particular purposes and audiences.
2. Engage in a writing process that includes exploring ideas, considering multiple points of view, developing and supporting a thesis, revising with the help of peer and instructor feedback, editing, and proofreading.
3. Find, evaluate, integrate, and properly document information from libraries, the Internet, and other sources, with an eye for reliability, bias, and relevance.
4. Read for main points, perspective, and purpose, and analyze the effectiveness of a variety of rhetorical strategies in order to integrate that knowledge into their writing.

WRITTEN COMMUNICATION FOUNDATION (FW) HALLMARKS

To satisfy the written communication requirement, this course will:

Introduce students to different forms of college-level writing, including, but not limited to, academic discourse, and guide them in writing for different purposes and audiences.

1. Provide students with guided practice of writing processes—planning, drafting, critiquing, revising, and editing—making effective use of written and oral feedback from the faculty instructor and from peers.
2. Require at least 5000 words of finished prose—equivalent to approximately 20 typewritten/printed pages.
3. Help students develop information literacy by teaching search strategies, critical evaluation of information and sources, and effective selection of information for specific purposes and audiences; teach appropriate ways to incorporate such information, acknowledge sources and provide citations.
4. Help students read texts and make use of a variety of sources in expressing their own ideas, perspectives, and/or opinions in writing.

COURSE CONTENT AND TASKS

Acquiring new skills is a life-long activity and is not limited to the classroom experience. In whatever career path you choose, reading and writing are foundational skills that will support and serve you in achieving your personal and professional goals, no matter what your academic or professional intentions may be. Through a variety of activities, this course will add to your existing literacy toolbox and help you improve your composition skills.

Over the course of this semester we will explore territories of words, images, and sounds. We will be adventurers, explorers, detectives—actively discovering our world through books, magazines, newspapers, essays, films, websites, art, plays, photographs, memoirs, interviews… wherever the territory of words exists. In the process of meeting diverse people, traveling to different places, encountering new experiences, and all the while sharpening our writing skills, we will undoubtedly encounter new facets of ourselves. We will discover that reading and writing are not only necessary skills, but can also take us on amazing and rewarding adventures.

Your writing will improve with practice, practice, and yes, more practice. In class, we will be writing, increasing and refining our mechanical/technical skills. Since writing also improves with reading, we will read and discuss texts, studying ways in which authors deploy literary conventions for effectiveness. And as a community of writers, we will be sharing our insights about our process.

One of our guiding themes will be sustainability. We will explore what sustainability means to us as individuals, as well as what it means for us as caretakers of this planet. In other words: what can we do to heal ourselves and save our planet?

Activities required outside of class:
In addition to regular assignments, students must complete the Library Research Units (3 sections with a score of 10 or more in each), conference (at least twice) with the instructor to discuss drafts, and dedicate at least six hours of study time per week for assignments.

“You can approach the act of writing with nervousness, excitement, hopefulness, or even despair — the sense that you can never completely put on the page whatever’s in your mind and heart. You can come to the act with your fists clenched and your eyes narrowed, ready to kick ass and take down names. You can come to it because you want a girl to marry you or because you want to change the world. Come to it any way but lightly. Let me say it again: you must not come lightly to the blank page.”  Stephen King, On Writing: A Memoir of the Craft
ASSESSMENT TASKS AND GRADING

Your final grade will be based on the quality and timely completion of assignments, insightful work, presentations, class attendance and participation. Assignments that do not meet minimal proficiency must be redone to receive passing credit.

LRU quizzes & Scavenger Hunt 20 points available
Grammar Exercises 30 points available
Reading/Viewing Responses 150 points available
Writer’s Observation and Process Journal 50 points available

Major Writing Assignments 300 points available
These assignments undergo at least one revision.

By the end of the term, you will have written a total of 5,000 words that have undergone revision.

A – 450+; B – 400-449; C – 350-399; D – 300-349; F – 299 and below
An “N” grade indicates that the student has worked conscientiously, attended regularly, finished all work, fulfilled course responsibilities, and has made measurable progress. However, either the student has not achieved the minimal student learning objectives and is not yet prepared to succeed at the next level, or the student has made consistent progress in the class but is unable to complete the class due to extenuating circumstances, such as major health, personal or family emergencies.

LEARNING RESOURCES

Required Resources:
The Absolutely True Diary of a Part-Time Indian by Sherman Alexie
The Happiness Advantage by Shawn Achor
The Blue Book of Grammar and Punctuation by Jane Straus
Also, throughout the semester I will provide handouts, videos, and links to valuable resources.

Required Tools: A composition notebook, a 3-ring binder with dividers, paper, pens (different ink colors), highlighters, and daily access to a computer and the Internet.

Suggested Tools: A portable hole-puncher and a mini stapler.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Mutual respect – at all times.

Attendance is MANDATORY. If you are sick, please SKYPE or Facetime in. Well behaved children are welcome to join us; bring an activity for them to focus on. If you do miss a class, it is YOUR responsibility to contact your class buddies and check the ANNOUNCEMENTS to find out what you missed and what is due. You will lose 10 points for every absence. Three late arrivals equal one absence. A total of six or more absences/late days will result in failure to pass the course.

Communication is key. Please keep me posted. If you encounter challenges in your life, let me know, so we can find ways for you to succeed in this class. You can call me, e-mail me, drop by my office during office hours, or make an appointment to meet with me in person.

Late Assignments. A completed assignment will decrease in value by 10% of its initial point total for each day it is late. A 100-point assignment, for example, will be worth 90 points on the first late day, 80 points on the second late day, and so on. Assignments that are late by seven (7) calendar days or longer will not be accepted.

Plagiarism. All sources used in your papers must be properly cited according to MLA format. If in doubt, check with me prior to turning in your paper.

Content Warning A college education provides you with a valuable opportunity to explore the world around you in new ways, broadening your life experiences. Research can uncover challenging and uncomfortable topics. In addition, literature, in particular, reflects the human condition in all its complexity, and sometimes contains content (profanity, violence, sexuality, etc.) that may offend you. If you would prefer not to expose yourself to these things through readings, audio books, films, class discussions, then this may not be the class for you.
COURSE POLICIES CONTRACT

I have read through and reviewed the above Course Policies and the entire syllabus (ENG 100). By signing this document, I acknowledge not only that I understand the policies and requirements of this course, but also that I understand the consequences of not following these policies.
